WARRANTS FOR SHERIFF KING

Not Circuit Court Kind, But Letters Urging Him to Make an Address.

RUSH COUNTY JAIL A MODEL

And They Want Him to Read Paper at Charities Conference at Columbus.

It seems that Sheriff Will L. King will have to read a paper at the State conference of charities and correction which will begin at Columbus on October 23. He doesn't want to and more than that he said he wouldn't, but the indications are that he will have to. He received word that he was on the program, but he notified Amos W. Butler, State secretary of the association, that he would be unable to fill the engagement. He thought that would end it. But he got another letter—this time from the local committee at Columbus, urging him to accept and read the paper. But Sheriff King decided that the county needed his services more. And this lecture platform stunt does not appeal to him anyway. He wrote another refusal, but he got another letter of exhortation—it said they couldn't get along without him. He had the refusing habit and he didn't think much of doing the thing again. Mr. Butler called him by long distance and told him there was nothing to it—he would have to read that paper on the care of a jail. And then Mr. Butler explained why all this urging. He said they had inspected the jail and found it to be almost a model so far as care went, and they want Mr. King to read a paper on how he does it. Then the sheriff began to see why he was so badly wanted. And now he still says he hasn't the time, but he is considering it and the chances are that he will accept. Anyway Rush county has a right to be proud of the fact that she has one of the model jails in the State, and a sheriff who knows how to take care of it.

EXTRA PITTSBURG TAKES FIRST OF SERIES

Pirates Down the Tigers in the Opening Contest of World's Championship Games.

BY A MARGIN OF THREE RUNS

Pirates00012100x—450
Tigers100000000—154

The Pittsburgh Nationals defeated the Detroit Americans in the opening game of the world's series at Pittsburgh this afternoon by a score of 4 to 1. The local sports have backed both teams and those who picked Pittsburgh will be pleased at the news that the Pirates got away with the first one. Seven games are to be played, the team taking four of the seven to receive the world's championship pennant. Ownie Bush, shortstop for the Tigers, is attracting the most interest among Rushville people.

The county judge of Cook county, Illinois, has recommended the appointment of a woman as inspector of all institution to which delinquent and deficient children are committed.

PROMOTERS MEET WITH BIG SUCCESS

Business Men Subscribing Liberally For Second Annual Fall Horse Show.

PROSPECTS ARE VERY BRIGHT

The horse show workers were out in force yesterday and met with success on every hand. Most of the business men responded liberally to the call for a subscription and indications point to the fact now that as large an amount of money will be raised this year as was last. The prospects for a show this year are better than they were last year in view of the fact that the ice has been broken. The event showed last year what local horsemen can do and the remembrance of their treatment here will no doubt draw many of them back.

FATHER KILLED IN AN ACCIDENT

J. P. Stech Received Telegram This Afternoon That Bernard Scarf Met Death Suddenly.

THE DETAILS WERE NOT GIVEN

J. P. Stech, city mail carrier, received a telegram this afternoon stating that his father-in-law, Bernard Scarf, had been killed at his home in Tippecanoe, Ohio. The communication did not tell the nature of the accident in which Mr. Scarf lost his life. The deceased was about seventy years of age and was a retired farmer. He had twice been elected mayor of Tippecanoe City, and was a member of the county board of commissioners for one term, and was a prominent Mason. Mr. and Mrs. Stech will leave this evening to attend the funeral.

WORRIED OVER CONDITION

Farmers May Have to Re-Sow Wheat On Account of Dry Spell.

The dry weather has made it necessary for many of the farmers to re-sow their wheat. This is often the case, but when the farmers are compelled to do so, it cuts down the profit. The roads are very dusty, and while the corn can not possibly be hurt by the dry weather, a good rain would put the 1910 crop of wheat on its way. This kind of weather a little later during the month would be fine for shucking corn, but it is still early for that.

DELEGATES TO BE NAMED TONIGHT

First Chance For Republicans of City to Get Their Hands in the Fight.

TO SELECT WARD COUNCILMEN

Good Men Have Been Mentioned For These Places—Large Attendance is Urged.

It looks like a big night tonight and the Republicans of the city will have their first chance "to get their hand in on the deal" in the city campaign. The first important meeting of the campaign will be held in the court house for the purpose of choosing delegates for the city convention and also to nominate the ward councilmen. The first ward will meet in the county superintendent's office and will select twenty-four delegates. The second ward will meet in the county sheriff's office and will choose eighteen delegates. The third ward will meet in the assembly room and is entitled to thirty-one delegates. One of the precinct committeemen will call these meetings to order and a chairman will be selected. The plans for choosing the delegates will be left to the separate wards, but this much is sure—the plan selected will be a fair one and give each candidate an equal chance. In the various wards several names have been mentioned as probable candidates for council. All of them are good men and there is little doubt that the councilmanic candidates will be strong vote getters. The councilmen-at-large will not be chosen until the city convention next Tuesday night. Every Republican is requested to be at his ward meeting tonight and get in the game and help choose the delegates and nominate the ward councilmen.

AUTO ENTRIES ARE COMING IN FAST

Greensburg and Connersville Enthusiasts Say They Will be Here With the Goods.

LOCAL DARE DEVILS IN TOO

Entries for the auto carnival to be held at the fair ground next Thursday are coming in fast. Connersville auto enthusiasts have already said they would send over their best "time destroyers" and say that others will have to go some to carry off the prizes. Greensburg will also be represented by a goodly number of enthusiasts. They say they have some "fast ones" down Greensburg way. Local interest seems to center on the three-mile Rush county amateur championship contest for the O. P. C. H. trophy. Rushville has some "dare devils" in the gasoline buggy business herself and the home boys feel confident in being able to hold their own in the argument. All members of the Rush County Auto club will be admitted free to the grounds upon identifying themselves as such at the gate. J. T. Arbuckle, secretary of the club will furnish the members with certificates. BROKE AN ARM. Fred M. Kaler, son of Editor Kaler of the St. Paul Telegram, fell from a walnut tree this week, breaking one of his arms.

ONE SUCCESS MAKES IT EASY

Not so Hard For the Y. M. C. C. to Accomplish Things For Rushville in Future.

WHAT THEY WILL SAY THEN

How Good it Will Make You Feel to See That Home Label.

When the success of this present movement has been attained—as it is now almost the universal sentiment that it will be swiftly—it will be found that it will be much easier to accomplish the same kind of work for Rushville next year and the year after. Then with such accomplishments written into the history of Rushville, many will wonder that they ever hesitated about getting a good seat on the band wagon early. The citizen of Rushville who a few years hence, may be temporarily visiting in Kokomo, Yazoo or Yucatan, will be reminded of the joys of home and made feel a pride in the mechanical ability of his fellow citizens when he reads the mark on an instrument, box or crate, "made at Rushville, Indiana." When he sees such a sign, judging from the character of the industries locating, he need not be ashamed of the product for he can be sure it is an honest product made with skill and intelligence. He will then probably indulge in a mental retrospect, something on this order: "How strange it is that any of our citizens hesitated in making the start for the transformation." "A few years ago the abiding spirit of Rushville was that of sweet contentment." "For many years it remained seemingly a self contented community, apparently satisfied with the achievements made and the reputation sustained in having only a good country town, a county seat surrounded and supported only by an exceedingly rich agricultural and stock raising country. "Through the Y. M. C. C. movement at Rushville has felt the magic enlivening touch of the Genius of Progress, which came in the garb of Discontent. Then she awakened from the repose of a good old-fashioned agricultural community and began to listen to the clamor of the shop, the din of the hammer, the hum of the saw, the ring of the anvil, and the sharp ding at the forge. The indolent sleeping restful beauty, as she awoke, touched her white hands in the grime and dust of manufacture. But, as she did so, her breathing became deeper, her heart beat faster, her pulses quickened, her eyes shone with a luster they never had before. Their radiance betokened the animation of intelligent purpose, determination. In her soul there gathered a resolution to accomplish. Her pretty lips parted, and she spoke the words, "Rushville will." "That she has faithfully fulfilled that resolution, that her hopes have been realized beyond anticipation, anyone cannot fail to see. In the accomplishment of that purpose, her home has changed. The old town was one which had a dreamy contented air. Had there been a motto on the walls, as there was upon those of cities of old, it probably would have been "Let well enough alone." It was enshrouded among waving fields of corn and near shoeks of golden wheat, big "yaller pumpkins" and as fine live stock as could be found in the world. "The rich products of agriculture are yet about the newer home, but they are not the only signs of plenty. Amid the old time scenes of the old home town, there is the whirr of wheels and the buzzing of rapidly running machinery. About the walls are cars, laden with all kinds of products ready for shipment to the people of many states and many lands. The sentiment has changed. It is now: "It is never well enough." Progress—progress, this is the law of human destiny operating through industrial development. "The promise of the Young Men's Commercial Club "Rushville will" has become a splendid accomplishment. They said "Rushville will!" and Rushville did. The pleasant old place has become a genuinely active 'ville,' one with a genuine rush, a progressive thoroughly vital "Rushville."

LOOK HERE! A NEW UNION STATION?

One of the Results Predicted After the New Factory Addition is Built up.

A BIG BOOST FOR RUSHVILLE

One of the results which is being predicted from the building up of the People's (Factory) addition is that Rushville will soon have a new union station. All the railroads except the J. M. & I. intersect at practically the same point at the People's addition. A straightening of the J. M. & I. would bring its convergence intersection with the other railroads to the same place. This would be welcomed by citizens generally. A wide separation of various railway stations in the same city or town is a source of inconvenience to the traveling public and to citizens. It is also said that the placing of a union station there would do much to attract the attention of travelers to the new growth of Rushville to be seen there and to the new factories located there. The location of such a union station would cause many more people to travel via Rushville than are now doing so. The success of the lot sale and the location of those factories will bring many benefits to Rushville than are generally thought of now.

MRS. A. J. TRON BUYS CIRCLE PARK HOTEL

Will Make Special Feature of a Home For Bachelors in the New Place.

SHE HAS TAKEN POSSESSION

Mrs. A. J. Tron announced yesterday that she has purchased the Circle Park Hotel of Ed Samuels and Thomas Prime, says the Indianapolis Star. She has taken possession of the property and will conduct a stag hotel. She has a long-time lease on the building, which is owned by George Rhodius, and expects to make improvements. The hotel will be under her personal management and she will be assisted by her brother, Charles Powell. She will establish a downstairs cafe and a novel feature of the hotel under her management will be an entire floor devoted to bachelor apartments. Mrs. Tron will endeavor to supply the comforts of home to bachelors. She will see that their garments are mended, clothes pressed, etc., and will provide a reading room for their enjoyment exclusively. It is said that in the last five years the membership of temperance societies in Germany has more than doubled.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS HAPPY

They Have an Enjoyable Day at the County Convention Held at Milroy.

LISTEN TO GOOD ADDRESSES

Music Special Feature of Occasion—Another Interesting Session This Evening.

Both helpful and enjoyable was the twenty-sixth annual convention of the Sunday schools of the county. The meeting was held at Milroy in the Christian church and there was a large attendance from all over the county. Many Sunday school workers from this city attended. The first thing on the program this morning was a meeting of the township and county officers. At this conference the work of the year was gone over and some business of importance was discussed. Music was a special feature of the session. One of the interesting addresses this morning was by the Rev. J. F. Cowling of this city, who spoke on "The Bible School and its Needs." He praised the work of the Sunday school and then gave some practical suggestions as to how the work might be improved. "Why Have Teachers' Training?" was the subject which the Rev. E. W. Halpenny, State secretary of the Sunday school association discussed. Leora J. Parker was down for an address on "Missions in the Bible School." Just before the adjournment for the noon hour committees were appointed. The session this afternoon opened with a song service and a prayer. Reports from the various departments showed that the work of the last year has been very satisfactory. The Rev. E. W. Halpenny was on the program for another address this afternoon on the subject "Advantages of the Adult Department in the Bible School." The Rev. William Smith, pastor of the Friends church at Walnut Ridge was given the subject "The Bible School and the Great Commission." Another session will be held this evening. In addition to a song and devotional service Mr. Halpenny will give another address and the Rev. Mr. Smith will talk on "The Power of Childhood Decision, or Where is the Deadline Crossed?" RECEIVED WORD OF DEATH OF SISTER Mrs. George Aull Got Telegram Telling of Demise of Mrs. Raymond Arnold at Louisville. LEFT TO ATTEND THE FUNERAL Mrs. George Aull of West Fifth street received word this morning of the death of her sister, Mrs. Raymond Arnold, in Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Arnold had been an invalid for several years and her death did not come unexpectedly. Mr. and Mrs. Aull left this afternoon to attend the funeral. THE WEATHER Increasing cloudiness with showers late tonight or Saturday. Warmer tonight.

SPITTING NUISANCE

Hawking and Spitting is Caused by Catarrh Germs.

If the local authorities want to stop the disgusting habit of spitting mucous on the sidewalk, they had better instruct the people as to the best method of killing the catarrh germs and curing catarrh.

You can easily tell by reading the symptoms below whether you have catarrh or not:

Offensive breath, frequent sneezing, discharge from nose, stoppage of the nose, huskiness of the voice, tickling in the throat, droppings in the throat, a cough, a pain in chest, loss of strength, variable appetite, spasms of coughing, low spirited at times, raising of mucous, difficulty in breathing, loss of vital force.

Johnson's drug store has a sensible remedy (money back if it fails) for catarrh, called Hyomei, which is a vaporized air so antiseptic that when it is breathed over the inflamed and germ-infested membrane, it kills all germ life and cures catarrh.

The price, including hard rubber inhaler, is only $1.00, and money back if it doesn't cure. Extra bottles 50 cents.

"I have tried almost every catarrh cure on the market without benefit. Have been using Hyomei for one week and feel like a new man already."—Wm. V. Goode, Newark, Ohio, June 21, 1909.

Lesson II.—Fourth Quarter, For
Oct. 10, 1909.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Acts xxiii, 11-24.
Memory Verse, 11—Golden Text, Ps. xc, 2—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The two great events of this chapter are Paul testifying before the Jewish council and his being sent to Felix, the governor of Caesarea. The chief captain, having rescued him from the Jerusalem mob and having given him permission to speak to them from the stairs before being taken into the castle, was greatly perplexed when, after a time of great silence and patient listening, the multitude suddenly became full of frenzy because of something he said. As Paul had spoken in Hebrew the chief captain knew not what he had talked about nor what stirred them so. He was about to exert from the prisoner by scourging the reason of their outcry when Paul told him he was a Roman citizen.

Paul's first utterance drew forth a rebuke from the high priest and a command to smite him on the mouth. Jesus was probably smitten thus (John xviii, 2), but he answered meekly, Paul not so meekly at first. Perceiving that some of those present were Pharisees and some Sadducees, Paul acknowledged himself a Pharisee and said, "Of the hope and resurrection of the dead I am called in question," for the Sadducees say that there is no resurrection, neither angel nor spirit, but the Pharisees confess both (verses 6, 8). This led to a strife between the two parties, the Pharisees taking Paul's part and crying: "We find no evil in this man. Let us not fight against God." The strife between the two parties was so great that again the chief captain was compelled to rescue Paul from them by force and bring him into the castle.

Can you wonder that the church as seen by the world today does not draw men to God through Jesus Christ? All sorts of religion, Trinitarian and Unitarian, Calvinist and Armenian, post-millennial and pre-millennial, are in the eyes of the world just so many opinions of men, one as good as another and none good for much, for where is He seen who has all power in heaven and on earth, the Righteous One, the Prince of Peace—will such religion ever win the world to Christ? The Scriptures do not so teach us, but God has a plan which He has revealed to us in His word, and every purpose of His shall be performed (Isa. xiv, 24). Verse 11 is certainly a light above the brightness of the sun in the midst of the surrounding darkness, not simply the darkness of the natural night, but the spiritual darkness of the times. "The Lord stood by him," and he never could forget it. Hear him as after many years, when he felt that the time of his departure had really come, he says, "The Lord stood with me and strengthened me" (II Tim. ix, 17); "Be of good cheer, Paul!" Imagine, if you can, the events of the past day or two and put yourself in Paul's place and say what such a visit from the Lord Jesus and such words might mean to you. Was Paul beginning to see that perhaps his coming to Jerusalem was a mistake, to say the least, and that he had brought all this on himself by not heeding the voice of the Spirit and the counsel of his brethren, and was he cast down and discouraged? Well, here is his blessed Lord, who loves to the uttermost and to the end, the one who said to Simon Peter: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, the cock shall not crow till thou hast denied me thrice. Let not your heart be troubled." Oh, He is so full of compassion! He knows us thoroughly and loves us notwithstanding all the sin and weakness He sees in us. Whatever may have been your failure, dear reader, if you are truly His and do really desire to please Him, He is saying to you, "Be of good cheer!" Consider the other five places where Jesus, and He only, used this particular word, one word in the Greek (Matt. ix, 2, 22; xiv, 27; Mark x, 49; John xvi, 33), and whether you are utterly helpless physically, or your life seems surely going from you, or you think you will perish, or you can't see anything, or your trials seem too great, He is saying, "Be of good cheer."

The mob might howl and the religious ones contend, but the Lord in heaven had heard Paul testify to Him. If by word and deed we are testifying of Him, then it is truly the work of the Spirit in us (John xv, 26). Paul is assured that he must bear witness at Rome also, as he had desired. "The Lord will fulfill the desire of them that fear Him" (Ps. cxlv, 19). "Delight thyself in the Lord, and He shall give thee the desires of thine heart" (Ps. xxxvii, 4)—this verse is lesson enough for a lifetime. But let us look further. During the night Paul received these assurances from the Lord Himself: In the morning his sister's son brings him word that more than forty men have sworn that they will neither eat nor drink till they have killed him. God and the devil. He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh: the Lord shall have them in derision. I wonder how long they fasted ere they discovered the vanity of their oath and purpose. Paul did not disregard their purpose, but through the boy made it known to the authorities and then rested in the Lord to work out His purpose, part of which was evidently to send him to Caesarea.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week
Beginning Oct. 10, 1909.
By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—How can we help our pastor?—Ex. xvii, 8-13.

The life of the pastor of a church today is one of so many and complex duties that he needs all the help that the church can give him and is especially encouraged when the young people come to his assistance, show their appreciation of his labors and lend a hand to make them more effective. What helps one pastor may only annoy another. Therefore, before Endeavorers can help their pastors, they must study their dispositions and environments, so that they can exercise judgment in all that they do. Pastors are human. They have hearts. They have feelings. They need help and encouragement as well as those to whom they try, by the grace of God, to administer these same things. Some general principles may here be noted.

A realization of the tremendous labors and burdens that rest upon a pastor's shoulders is an absolutely necessary requirement in the helping of pastors. Many treat their work lightly. They look upon the ministry as one of easiest professions. Their idea is that about all he has to do is to talk twice on the Sabbath day and that no preparation is required for that. The facts are that the members of no other profession do so much as ministers and none are so poorly paid. But people say, "The minister should not think of money." Christ never said so. He declared that the "worker is worthy of his meat." Moreover, if because of the insignificance of his salary in comparison to his real needs and, as is usual, its irregular payment the minister comes to owe a few debts the cry goes up that he is no good because he does not pay his debts—and often some of those to whom he is indebted owe pew rent to the church of which he is the pastor, and the church cannot pay him because they do not pay it. Ministers are men. They should, like other men, be paid what they are worth. They should be paid promptly. When that day comes few will ever be in debt or have to worry over making "both ends meet." The church and the world, as well as the minister, will reap the results, for he will then be able to give to them the service of a clear, untroubled mind, and the results will soon be apparent. Christian Endeavorers, when older and richer, should bear these facts in mind. Pay your pastors a living salary. Pay it promptly, as you agree to do in calling him, and you will help him and help your church and the world at large.

If some people with false estimates of a minister's duties could go with one in his work for one week they would certainly have a change of mind—two sermons, which require hours of preparation, to be preached to the same people Sabbath after Sabbath for years, in addition to at least one mid-week lecture, the sick to be visited, the dying to be comforted, the dead to be buried, the bereaved to be comforted after the death of loved ones. He goes with the physician, continues with the undertaker and still continues his visiting after both are done. Many other burdens of sorrow rest upon him through the adversities and trials of his people. The Protestant church has no confessional, but Protestant ministers nevertheless have many secret burdens and trials intrusted to them. And to whom should those in trouble go but to their pastor? Who are more sympathetic? Who more willing to help in time of need? The world, too, makes many demands upon the minister. No class of men do more beyond their bounds of labor than the Christian minister. A man may shun a church and a pastor during his days of health, but when dying he wants one. He may have never darkened a church door, but when he dies his family wants a minister at the funeral service, and he goes. No one says "He is not a member of my church" and declines. It is a part of his larger ministry which in Christ he owes to all men. There are no complaints meant by these statements. Such things are the duties of the minister, and he does them for Christ's sake and the love of his work. The last profession on earth a young man should choose is the ministry unless his heart's one desire is to perform these duties. Nor does the professional element enter into his work. Ministers become deeply attached to their people and enter with sincere sympathy into all their troubles and sorrows. And how may pastors be helped in all the burdens of pulpit and pastoral labors? Realize that he, too, needs comfort and encouragement, and thereby help him. Give him your cordial friendship. Do not hold aloof from him because he is your pastor. The ministry is a lonely profession. He is much in public and much in company, and yet his heart is lonely. Many hold aloof from him and when he is about are constantly on the "anxious seat." Treat him as you would any other Christian man and you will help him.

The Juniors of the United Methodist Society of Christian Endeavorers, Portsmouth, England, know the value of small gifts. They have a farthing fund and collected last year more than 5,000 farthings, or $25. They gave $50 to an orphan home, paid one-half the cost of a day in the country for forty poor children, breakfasted 168 children at Christmas, sent parcels of groceries to every home represented at that breakfast and supplied coal to a number of poor people.

Young Men Determined

The remark made by a young business man at Y. M. C. headquarters last evening, "Rushville must move or I will," was the occasion of some remarks from an old and highly respected citizen, owner of a fine Rush county farm, which are worthy of being quoted here as nearly as it is possible to do as they were made. Substantially he said:

"I believe it fortunate for Rushville that the younger business men in this community have undertaken this progressive movement for the up-building of the community. The energies of most of us older fellows were directed to the agricultural development of Rush county. In the days of my greatest activities the farming interests came near being the 'whole thing.' We have brought the agricultural and stock-raising development of Rush county to a condition that we have a right to feel proud of. I do not see how they could be brought to a higher point of perfection.

"We older fellows bore the heat and burden of the day for a good many years in accomplishing what has been done. But this later, the manufacturing development of Indiana came when I had ceased to hustle as I did in my younger days and when I felt that I had a right to take life more easily. Although I have read of it taking place on all sides of us I have felt that this was a new Indiana, a thing which I was too old to get into close touch with; but which it would be necessary for the growing-up generation and the middle-aged business men to do if Rushville maintained her proper place in rank among the cities of the State. I am glad that the younger men are pushing the movement for the pleasant old home town.

There may be one or two old fogies and fossils in Rushville who would be glad to see the work fail. But any such a man would be very short-sighted. I should hate to see the old town left behind in the march of progress very much as I would be sorry to see the horse of one of my neighbors distanced at the State fair. We should be glad to see something done which would make Rushville a more prosperous and active community. The welfare of our sons and daughters would be increased by it. I know that in the main we older fellows still have the fattest bank accounts. We do not want to see our sons and daughters moving away because they become discontented and say that the town is too slow to suit their spirit is. We older fellows continue—most of us—to have the fattest bank accounts. I want my sons and daughters to have the same chance to prosper through the activities of a growing flourishing community that I had, instead of striking out West to "grow up with the country." I was glad to see this exhibition of grit and pluck of the younger business element, and I expect to help this good movement by buying at least one and probably more lots in the new factory addition."

Of Human Interest

HIS ADOPTED CHILD.

Laurel Review: James Handley and wife, of Garrison Creek, were guests of Ben F. Conner, who lives east of Alpine, Sunday. Mr. Conner has been in a bad state of health for twenty years or more, the trouble being nervousness. He is now past ninety years of age his helpmate died about fifteen years ago. Some fifty-five years ago Mr. Conner and his wife adopted a little girl nine years of age at the time, who has ever since been a comfort and a blessing to the home and is today the main dependence of the aged man who took her to his home, as one of the family, when she was in her childhood and needed just such a home. An investigation of this case might have a good influence on some people who have childless homes and who may become old and need just such tender and loving care as Mr. Conner is now receiving in the latter days of his life.

IF SHE HAD KNOWN.

It was the way she said it that made it funny, but it wasn't bad at that. She was a witness in a suit against an estate and the plaintiff's attorneys were recalling certain incidents in the last illness of the deceased. This woman was at the bedside of the sick woman much of the time and she was introduced to bring out certain points about the illness. She told of one incident and then the attorneys asked:

"Now, on what date was this?"

"Now you know I don't remember that, but if I had known that it was coming to this I would have tried to remember the date," replied the unaccustomed witness and she wondered why everybody smiled.

For Nimrods Only

The closed season for all game except water fowl is now in full effect. Between October 1 and November 10 local hunters will have an opportunity to prepare for their usual fall sport and indications point to an unusually large amount of game this season.

Slight changes were made in the game laws by the last legislature and for the convenience of hunters who are anxious to keep with the law, the following extracts from the game laws are given.

Ducks, geese, rails, coots, mud-hens and all kinds of water fowl may be killed between September 1 and April 15.

Quail, November 10 to January 1; number one person may kill in one day, fifteen.

Rabbits, November 10 to succeeding October 1. A closed season for rabbit shooting during October has been provided in order that hunters may not scour the fields and kill young quail while pretending that they are hunting rabbits.

Squirrels, July 1 to October 1.

Woodcock, July 1 to January 1.

Snipe and plover, any time.

Doves, protected during the entire year.

Pheasants, prairie chickens, grouse and Hungarian partridges must not be killed until 1915.

It is unlawful to kill wild duck or other water fowl at any time between sunset of any day and sunrise of the following day.

It is unlawful to kill wild birds at any time, or hunt or shoot on Sunday.

Hunters must have license to hunt anywhere, except on land owned or rented by them.

WHY NOT COME HERE?

Shelbyville Democrat: The manager of the bowling team at Greensburg has written here asking for a game with a team in this city. Owing to the fact that the alleys have been closed here for several months this city is without a representative team. An effort may be made in the near future to organize a team and if this is done the boys in the Tree City will be accommodated. There is enough material in the city to make several good teams and one will likely be organized in the next few weeks.

Making, selling or exporting of red ginseng in or from Korea is now forbidden, under fines of from $50 to $500 and confiscation of equipment to all parties except the Korean government or firms specially authorized by it. It is highly valued in the orient for medicinal use.

HIS STRONGHOLD IS BATTING

James Scanlan of Indianapolis, who formerly lived in this city, has been visiting friends and relatives here. He played ball a great deal around on the vacant lots while a boy and when he moved to Indianapolis he still had the habit. He developed into a first class ball player, and soon landed a berth on one of the best semi-professional teams in the city.

This season he finished out the last few weeks with the Peoria, Illinois, team in the Three-I League and made good with a vengeance. He batted with an average of over 400 and also had a high fielding average. He has now been drafted by the Philadelphia American league team and will be given a try-out with them next season. He is a shortstop and promises to vie with Ownie Bush for honors.

BY THE WAYSIDE

An Atchison Young Thing had a heart that ached, her Honey Boy having taken his affections elsewhere and her father recently shut himself up with her to reason with her. "That Honey Boy averaged spending fifty cents a week on you," he said. "Here is a dollar a week to take his place. Every time he called he cleaned out the refrigerator; your mother will see to it that your brothers do this in the future. He kept you up late at nights. Your baby sister is cross and hereafter you will let the baby do this for you. He took possession of the most comfortable chair on the porch. When you look at that chair in the future it will not be empty, bringing the pang to your heart that your silly novels tell about. It will be occupied by the man who paid for it, and that's me. Your mother and I stayed by you through colic and teething and are going to get you through this if we have to take turns spanking you. Now, take your eyes off the moon and look at the dust around you."—Atchison Globe.

Sausage has even from very early times been a popular table delicacy. Aristophanes was familiar with it in Roman days the sausages of Lucania were in high esteem. They were made from pork and the nuts of the stone pine, flavored with bay leaves and other things more familiar.

HIDDEN DANGERS.

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Rushville Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys secrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here's Rushville proof:

Mrs. M. T. Lewark, 1023 N. Perkins St., Rushville, Ind., says: "I felt miserable for some time and the kidney secretions caused me great annoyance by their irregularity in passage. In the morning I felt very tired and I had little strength or energy. Deciding to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I obtained a box from F. B. Johnson & Co.'s drug store. They have brought me great benefit, removing the lameness in my back and strengthening my kidneys. I think highly of this remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

CHAPTER V.

HONEST MAN AND KNAVE.

"I WISH to talk to you, Edward," began Mr. Durant. His manner was serious, and Pinckney, who had known him so long, realized that he was seriously put out about something. At such times there was only one way to handle the steel magnate—that way was absolute obedience and prompt replies to his questions. Pinckney became all attention at once. "Yes, sir. What is it?" he asked. Durant consulted the paper in his hand.

"The royalty on this Rhinestrom gun," he asked—"am I correctly informed about it?"

"How much did you think it was?" asked the manager.

"According to the papers, we pay a royalty of $6,000 for every gun six inches or under and $1,000 an inch extra for every one over six. So for these twelve inch guns we are to forge we must pay $12,000 each."

"That's correct, sir," said Pinckney. "It's too much," declared the steel magnate sharply.

His manager ventured a protesting gesture.

"I wrote you," he said, "and cabled you before I signed the contract. It was too risky waiting until your return."

"I don't see why," exclaimed Durant impatiently. "I think you've made a mistake this time, Edward—a grave mistake. That royalty I consider outrageous."

The manager had to make a fight.

"I'm very sorry, sir," he said apologetically. "but you know I have your interest at heart, and it seemed to me the only thing that could be done. You have trusted my judgment. I had to exercise it. The government liked this gun, and it meant an order that will keep us busy for a year. If we controlled the patents they were obliged to give us the contracts. There was no competition, you see, and then our price to the government leaves us a very fair profit even after this big royalty is paid."

Durant shook his head. "Penny wise, pound foolish, I think it, Edward. To make a profit we have to charge the government a tremendous price that doesn't help our future business. It will give us a black eye when we want work next time."

"Well, I'm sorry, sir," said Pinckney apologetically. "I was working only for the best. I wanted to insure our contract with the government. As it is, you see, we do not begin work for two months, and there'll be a lot of wire pulling and hauling first."

Durant nodded. "Yes, if they find a gun they like better they can countermand our order."

Pinckney hesitated. He felt he had to go cautiously, but it would not do to let Mr. Durant guess his hand.

"Yes," he said slowly. "this fellow Sommers is here to have a gun forged that he's invented. He's got some pull at Washington, I'm certain of that."

"Don't see what difference that makes," replied the steel man.

"Oh," protested the manager, "suppose after they test the Sommers gun they give it preference over the Rhinestrom gun and countermand our order."

Durant nodded, pleased.

"I wish they would," he said. "We could still get the business and not gouge the government. Sommers is an officer in the navy and can claim no royalty. It would reduce the cost of every twelve inch gun $12,000."

Pinckney bowed in agreement, then suggested:

"You are partly right, Mr. Durant, but if they took his gun there would be no certainty about our getting the order. We would have to compete in the open, and some one might underbid us."

"We can't help that," replied his chief. "Is Sommers' gun better than ours?"

Pinckney looked up indignantly. "Of course not," he exclaimed, "but Sommers has influence, and I do not trust him. I think he'd be capable of any dirty trick to have our gun turned down."

Durant laid his hand on the young

ARE MICROBES IN YOUR SCALP

It Has Been Proved That Microbes Cause Baldness.

Professor Unna of Hamburg, Germany, and Dr. Sabourand, the leading French dermatologist, discovered that a microbe causes baldness. Their theory has time and again been amply verified through research experiments carried on under the observation of eminent scientists. This microbe lodges in the Sebur, which is the natural hair oil, and when permitted to flourish it destroys the hair follicles and in time the pores entirely close, and the scalp gradually takes on a shiny appearance. When this happens there is no hope of the growth of hair being revived.

Dandruff is a contagious disease, which is largely due to a destructive microbe, which when left to pursue its course causes itching scalp, falling hair and baldness. Dandruff is caused by the microbe affecting the glands which produce the sebaceous matter, which latter then unnaturally dries up and scales off.

We have a remedy which will, we honestly believe, remove dandruff, exterminate the microbe, promote good circulation in the scalp and around the hair roots, tighten and revitalize the hair roots and overcome baldness, so long as there is any life left in the hair roots.

We back up this statement with our own personal guarantee that this remedy called Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will be supplied free of all cost to the user if it fails to do as we state.

It will frequently restore gray and faded hair to its original color, providing loss of color has been caused by disease; yet it is in no sense a dye. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic accomplishes these results by making every hair root, follicle and pigment gland strong and active, and by stimulating a natural flow of coloring pigment throughout the hair cells.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is entirely free from grease or sediment, is exceedingly pleasant to use and will not gum the hair or permanently soil the clothing or pillows.

We exact no obligations or promises—we simply ask you to give it a thorough trial and if not satisfied tell us and we will refund the money you paid us for it. Two sizes, price 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it at Rushville only at our store.—The Rexall Store. Lytle's Drug Store.

manager's arm in kindly fashion.

"Now, now, Edward," he said meaningly. "I like your enthusiasm; it's good for the business, but you must not let your enthusiasm lead you to foolish hatred. This young Sommers seems to me to be a very decent sort of young fellow. I never saw him before tonight, but I was quite favorably impressed. Frances also seems to like him very much."

"So you've noticed that, too, have you?" sneered the manager.

CURES REMOVE DOUBT ABOUT ECZEMA CURE

Read What Your Druggist Says About Oil of Wintergreen.

Druggist Thos. W. Lytle submits the following to the readers of the Daily Republican:

For several years we have announced, with our recommendation, that we had found a positive cure for eczema; a simple skin wash, oil of wintergreen compounded with other healing ingredients.

Yet we know there are people right in this town who have eczema, and still have tried this remedy.

We have therefore arranged with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for a special offer of a trial-bottle at 25 cents instead of the $1.00 bottle as regularly sold.

We offer this trial bottle with our recommendation and assurance that just as soon as the patient washes his itching skin, this mild liquid will take the itch away instantly.

For sale by Lytle's Drug Store.

Because in the fall the weather is more uniformly warm and sunny and more settled.
Because in the fall paint can be more successfully applied than in damp, cloudy or unsettled weather.
Because in the fall there are usually no dust-laden, insect carrying winds.
Because in the fall the wood is dry and the paint penetrates deeper, securing a firmer hold on it.

Gray Hairs Banished.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy and gradually restored the natural color. One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it especially as it had to be made every two or three days on account of its souring quickly. This objection has been overcome, and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow. It is sold by all druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Courtlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price. For sale and recommended by Hargrove & Mullin.

The second Rushville high school team will play the Connorsville high school team at the South Main Street grounds at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Horse Show Success

Of the Morristown horse show the Shelbyville Democrat says: The Morristown horse show is a success. While there was not so many people present as there is at the annual horse fair in New York, the capital of Hanover township overflowed with the good-natured crowd, which craned their individual and collective necks to see the fine horses exhibited there Wednesday.

One hundred and eighty animals were entered for the judge, Colonel Nesbit, of Greensburg, to pass upon. All of the horses were on their good behavior, with the exception of the pony owned by the young son of Allie Miller of Freeport. The Miller pony concluded that some of the other horses were getting more than their share of attention and the little animal attempted to run off, a difficult feat, as it was too small to wrestle with the brawny men present.

It is estimated that one of the largest concourses of people ever gathered together in the second town of the county was in attendance at the horse show. Not a jar or mishap occurred to cast gloom upon the festivities, and the organizers and managers are in high glee over the success of the affair. It is certain that another show will be given next year.
